The time and facilities afforded by the Burlington line are not remarkable only as a comparison between new and old conditions, and in recognizing the fact that the beastern shippers is now uniformly arrived at destination in the remarkable time of seven or eight days from New York, and three to four days from St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City, or Chicago or Denver.

There will be two comparies from this city and large delegation of outsiders. Fitzgeralds will go up Tuesday, about 30 strong, officered by John Bagley, foreman, W. H. James, first assistant, and under the management of John Temple-

C. M. Carpenter, second assistant. They will have a running team of eighteen, ton, and, from the fine work the boys have been doing lately, I will bet a pes against a pagoda that they carry off a prize. The merchant's hose will not go up until Wednesday, and will merely take part in the parade. They will have twenty men, in charge of W. H. Newbury, foreman, Robert Barham, first assistant, and I self second assistant. Chief Engineer Quick will also be on hand and I will raise my former bet and go two peas against a pagoda that he will be the finest looking man in the line, Jerome Pentzel, the Adonis of the Thurstons, to the contrary notwithstanding. Chief Quick may not run in the running race for chiefs and assistants, but for physique and general assistants, but for physique and general make up, Harry Howard, in his palmiest days, could never equal Lincoln's redshirted knight. Let there be a special detail of police to keep the ladies on the sidewalk while Quick is passing in the procession. Ex-Chief I. L. Lyman and assistant, Menche, will be there and I can assure my firemen friends in Omaha that the capital city will furnish the said the capital city will furnish the said guests during the tournament, of which they can well feel proud to entertain in the best manner possible.

William O'Shea, of this city, an Irish nationalist of practical prominence, is not t all satisfied with the position about to be taken by the executive committee of the Irish National Land League regard-ing American politics. He is now preparing an open letter to send to said committee, stating among other things that the understanding he had with Mr. Parnell personally in Boston when he (O'Shea) as vice president of the Irish Free Soil League, which was the founda-tion of the land league in this country, consented to use his influence to s change of name was that the American politics should not in any way be mixed with land league matters. We are constantly hearing of the lack of manufactories in the city and the hesitency of mechanic producers to locate. This can very easily be explained if the citizens of the capital would only take time to consider the matter. Do they ever turn their eyes to the south where stands the penitentiary and think of the contract system there in operation under Boss Stout and others. What honest hardworking stone cutter, no matter wha the contract labor in the line of stone No. 321. his skill, can compete successfully with work! A trunk factory has lately been established in the pen. Is there any inducement for trunk makers to locate in Lincoln now? Even the heathen Chinee—the diamond eyed child of the sun—has a direct com-petition in the penitentiary laundry and his oriental chop stick economy hardly enables him to successfully meet this competition. It will not be long before boots, shoes, cigars and other merchan tile articles will be made by the Nebraska convicts and consequent inroads on all honorable and honest industrial pursuits. It seems that it is about time for the leading classes to examine into this matter. In my humble opinion more good can be done toward raising the dignity of labor and benefiting the sons of toil by regulating the prison contract system than foolgin around a week.

Why is this Tom Price, with several aliases, who was connected with the killing of Jimmy Nugent, in the Theatre Comique, of your city, has just been brought to the penitenriary from Harlan county, having Residence No. 1407 Jones St. Office, No. 15

The exact distance from Denver to Pacific tween the Nebraska of the past and that of the present are really surprising, even to us who have lived amid all this progress, and, perhaps, added a little to its development. What a brilliant showing for any commonwealth is the contrast between the grand assessment roll of the state in 1873, which was $78,418,580, and that of 1883, which was $110,543, 644, a gain in ten years of $32,124,064 In 1873 there were only 1,107 miles of railroad in Nebraska. In 1884, 2,685 gers is very marked. Time on freights from the eastern shippers is now uniformly arrived gers is very marked. Time on freights from the eastern shippers is now uniformly arrived at destination in the remarkable time of seven miles, an increase of 1,578 miles, 211 of age they are giving it.

The late flurry in the New York stock market is a true indicator of the management of the railroads of the country, and is a safe guide for the public to discern what lines are managed to serve the interest of the public and at the same time the interest of the stockholders. The great Burlington system constructs its lines into new territory for the purpose of remaining there permanently and for the pur-pose of making them profitable. They also recognize the fact that prompt, active, fair treatment and liberal dealing with its patrons are necessary to secure and hold patronage.
